TSA to conduct training exercises at WeGo Central Agents on-site Wednesday, January 8 for training, consultation practice

NASHVILLE – As part of an ongoing partnership with federal authorities to ensure customer safety practices, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) will have team at WeGo Central on Wednesday, January 8, from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. to provide high-visibility law enforcement security presence and consultation.

Participating officers will be on-site assisting local security personnel to evaluate and assess current activities. This is the ninth such visit the TSA team has made on-site at Central in the past six years. These routine transportation site visits help law enforcement to assess changing environmental conditions and better prepare to deter unsafe activity.
