

Donelson Transit Center Project

Public Meetings

WeGo Public Transit is hosting two informational public meetings in March to share more information on the project and answer any questions the community may have. The meetings will be held open-house style.

The meeting details are below:

Monday, March 30, 2026

6 p.m. to 7 p.m.
Donelson Library (2714 Old Lebanon Pike)

Tuesday, March 31, 2026

11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.
Donelson Library (2714 Old Lebanon Pike)

Overview

WeGo Public Transit is building a new Donelson Transit Center that will bring increased bus service and new connections to the area, including more frequent trips on Route 6 Lebanon Pike. The service expansion is made possible by Nashville Mayor Freddie O'Connell's Choose How You Move program, which will fund 12 future transit centers.

Planned Improvements

- Six bus bays with accessible, outdoor covered waiting areas
- Seating, lighting, and security cameras
- Digital signage displaying real-time arrival and departure information
- New vehicle and pedestrian access to Donelson Pike with a new traffic signal
- Improved pedestrian connections
- Railroad Quiet Zones to minimize train horn noise in the community through vehicle and pedestrian safety improvements at rail crossings
- Rideshare pick-up and drop-off locations
- Bicycle racks and micromobility/bikeshare docking stations